

Making Decisions

Art – improving drawing skills

Do you remember this picture from Looking for Lord Ganesh? Anika is feeling very confused and alone here and the illustration helps us understand this by showing her in the middle of a lake, isolated on a single lily pad. She is also looking out over the water as if she is searching for an answer to her problem.

Can you think back to a time when you had to make a difficult decision? How could you represent this in a drawing like Sonja Wimmer's? Some of the pictures and symbols below might help you generate ideas. For example, a mountain might suggest that you reached an important goal, it might suggest that the way ahead is all uphill or maybe even that the outcome of your decision is hidden in the clouds!
